Gentle Reminders

- Blossom Center understands that children need security blankets and toys to make the center feel like home, but we suggest that parents have children bring just one blanket and one toy as it is difficult to locate items at the end of the day. Continue to label any items you send.
- During the holidays, it is important to let us know when your children will be here. This helps us schedule activities so that the most children can participate.
- During the flu season, Blossom would appreciate in-kind assistance of tissue and disinfectant.
- Some special music and or craft activities from persons in the community may take place. Parents, please check clip boards and on pictures by the door to be apprised of those activities.

What's Happening?

Preschool 1 and Preschool 2 class made thank you cards to organizations and churches who provided in kind support, contributions, and supplies to the Blossom Center. The youth are using the construction paper and coloring pencils as they create their art work.

Billing

Parents: Many of you have received a statement of your current tuition balance, and Michael Bjerke, our office administrator, will be working to get them to all of the parents. These statements show your children's attendance for every week of 2019, the fee for each week, and every payment that you have made. If you disagree with anything on your statement, please let Michael know.

If the statement shows that you owe the center, please contact us to see how we can arrange to get the arrears paid off. We will work with you in any way we can.

Say Cheese!

Guess what day this was!!!
